

RARE ANIMALS WITH THE GREAT LONDON SHOWS

The London Shows exhibit the only great blue-faced, rib-nosed baboon in captivity. He is a giant in size, and is possessed of the strength of a hundred men. Decked with rare tints, with gorgeous colors and with indescribable hues, he grins at the startled thousands, a degenerate man or a redeemed brute—which is he? Scientists have not answered the question. He has passed through training school for animals and has thrown aside many antics and notions of the brute creation, and taken on many antic idiosyncracies of finite man. He is at once a wonder and a mystery, and his queer grimaces and wise expressions provoke smiles and serious reflections from the simple-minded and the philosophical. To see this rare freak of nature is never to forget it.

Howe's Great London Shows Consolidated, according to the general verdict is the Greatest Circus Alliance the world has ever known, will be in Tonopah September 11.

WHERE HE WOULD SURE FIND IT

The story is told of a newspaper editor in one of the Nevada towns who had the joke on a citizen of his own town not long since. The citizen and his family are great admirers of the mail order store and buy all of their goods in the east. A few weeks ago a daughter of the house got married and the entire bridal paraphernalia, including the invitations, were purchased in the large city. The day after the wedding the bride's father brought the newspaper office a long account of the event, but when the paper appeared it contained nothing about the wedding but an announcement of three or four lines. The next day the citizen called at the newspaper office to demand an explanation why the report of the wedding had not been printed.

"Oh, that's all right," said the editor, "you'll probably find it in the National Cloak and Suit company's spring catalogue."—Ev.

PLANS OUT FOR RAILROAD.

T. F. Kearns, former United States senator from Utah, accompanied by his sons and private secretary, arrived in Winnemucca in an automobile Monday. The party had traveled all the way from The Dalles, Ore., to Winnemucca by auto, and it is said that the trip was made for the purpose of going over the route of a proposed railroad. The ex-senator stated in an interview, however, that though he believed a railroad would be built into Winnemucca from the north, and that a great country will be opened up, his trip had nothing to do with such a project.

MINE IS UNSEALED ONE BODY FOUND

ELY, Nev., Sept. 1.—When the shaft of the Gloux Consolidated mine, which was closed Friday to extinguish the fire which caused the death of seven men, was unsealed yesterday, the body of Daniel Drea, secretary of the local Miners' union, was found on top of the ladder platform within 15 feet of the surface. He almost had reached safety, when he was overcome by the smoke and heat.

The remains of John McNulty are still in the mine, the shaft being too hot to permit of further search at the present time.

PROMINENT MINING MAN RECEIVES A HANDSOME GIFT

RETIRING SUPERINTENDENT IS SHOWN LOYAL SENTIMENT OF HIS EMPLOYEES.

"Joe" Donnelly, former superintendent for the Consolidated, whose resignation takes effect today, was the recipient of a request last evening to appear at the Mohawk mine early this morning and remove some of his property some of the workmen had found and cared for. Thinking it was doubtless a pick and candle stick or some similar trifle found by the practical jokers, of whom there are many at the Mohawk, Donnelly resolved to be "goat" and repaired to the mine.

On his arrival there he found the men from both shafts waiting and a moment later he stood staring surprisedly at a beautiful gold watch which had just been presented to him by the men who have worked under him so long.

A magnificent specimen of the watchmaker's art, the time-piece was a fitting testimonial of the regard felt by the men for Mr. Donnelly.

In the case was inscribed the simple sentiment, "Presented to Joe Donnelly by the Mohawk Boys, September 1, 1911."

Mr. and Mrs. Donnelly will leave for Los Angeles this evening, where they will make their home in future.—Tribune.

STATE STOCK AT THE SHOW

Nevada's stock at the California state fair, now in progress at Sacramento, is attracting considerable attention, according to advices received in Reno yesterday. There are three agricultural shafts at the fair of which that of the University of Nevada is the largest, and it is expected that the majority of the blue ribbons will go to the blooded stock from this state.

Prof. Gordon H. True, in charge of the exhibit, has been selected as one of the judges of stock. The competition will be strong, but Nevada stands an excellent chance in securing the honors in the exhibition of aged bull, two-year-old bull, aged cow and bull calf.

In the exhibit of shorthorns, no entries were provided by Nevada, and the prize awards, made Monday, went to the California exhibitors. It will be in the exhibits of Holstein and Friesian cattle in the dairy class and Herefords, that Nevada exhibit will enter into the competition. Last year but forty-eight Holsteins were shown, while this year eighty-four are entered.—Journal.

ABOUT THE GREAT CAMP OF TERRELL

At Matt, who went out to the new camp of Terrell some days ago, secured a promising claim close to the good ones, and after doing his holding work returned to Yerington Thursday. He reports things looking good at the new camp. Most of the travel is going by way of Fallon owing to the shorter railroad connection and low fare.

Terrell and his associates have 21 claims in the district and they have loded them to George Wing-ford for $150,000, who now has fifteen men at work on the ground. One shaft has been sunk to a depth of 300 feet and at this depth a crosscut is being run to tap the ledge. On the surface this ledge is about two feet wide and carries gold and silver values as high as $1500 per ton. Silver predominates in the ore, but the gold values run from $100 to $500 per ton, while there are stringers of gold ore that will run as high as 60 ounces to the ton. Another shaft, on a parallel ridge, is down about 25 feet, the ledge being about five feet in width and carrying a high-grade streak that runs as high as $2000 per ton, while the whole ledge will run at least $40 per ton.

There are about 100 people in the camp now permanently located and more are coming in daily. The camp now contains a large boarding house, a mine bunk-house, three saloons, one corral and feed yard, a general store and several other business enterprises. In the deep shaft on the Terrell property a fine flow of water has been encountered and is being used for domestic purposes. The supply is said to be of sufficient quantity for a town of two or three thousand people.—Fallon Standard.
